Krowemarfirps.gro and sees you .dengis-flames Saw Taht Etacifitrec and HTIW LSS Sesu Taht Etis and Morf Ecrivres BEW and HTIW Gnkrow Saw (} thru the code, I found the RestTemplate using org.springframework.http.client.SimpleClientHttpRequestFactory which has a protected prepareConnection(€AAjA) method I could override and catch the HttpURLConnection which I could set the verifier in. First we need our own ClientHttpRequestFactory:
public class MySimpleClientHttpRequestFactory extends SimpleClientHttpRequestFactory { private final HostnameVerifier verifier; public MySimpleClientHttpRequestFactory(HostnameVerifier verifier) { this.verifier = verifier; } @Override protected void prepareConnection(HttpURLConnection connection, String httpMethod) throws IOException {
if (connection instanceof HttpsURLConnection) { ((HttpsURLConnection) connection).setHostnameVerifier(verifier); } super.prepareConnection(connection, httpMethod); } } Now we can use that as the request factory in our RestTemplate: public void setRestTemplate(RestTemplate template) { HostnameVerifier verifier = new NullHostnameVerifier(); MySimpleClientHttpRequestFactory factory = new MySimpleClientHttpRequestFactory(verifier); template.setRequestFactory(factory); this.template = template; } Once the NullHostnameVerifier is in place in the WebServiceTemplate and the RestTemplate, we will no longer see the error Add my response with cookie : public static void main(String[] args) { MultiValueMap params = new LinkedMultiValueMap(); params.add("username", testUser); params.add("password", testPass); NullHostnameVerifier verifier = new NullHostnameVerifier(); MySimpleClientHttpRequestFactory requestFactory = new MySimpleClientHttpRequestFactory(verifier , rememberMeCookie);
ResponseEntity response = restTemplate.postForEntity(appUrl + "/login", params, String.class); HttpHeaders headers = response.getHeaders(); String cookieResponse = headers.getFirst("Set-Cookie"); String[] cookieParts = cookieResponse.split(";"); rememberMeCookie = cookieParts[0]; RequestFactory = New MySimpleClientHttpRequestFactory (verifier, cookie.getCookie ()); restTemplate.setRequestfactory (request for re-estimation); } Public Class MySimpleClientHttpRequestFactory extends simpleclienthttprequestfactory (private final hostnameverifier verifier; private final string cookie; Mysimpleclienthttprequestfactory (hostnameverifier, string cookie) {this.verifier = verifier; this.cookie = cookie; } @Override public void setRestTemplate(RestTemplate restTemplate) { ((HttpsURLConnection) connection).setHostnameVerifier (verifier); ((HttpsURLConnection) Connection) .setSocketFactory (confianA$aeIlsignedssl ()); GetSocketFactory (); ((HttpsURLConnection) Connection) .setAllowUserInteraction (TRUE); String rememberMeCookie = cookie == null? The WebServiceMessage sender for HTTPS A© org.springframework.ws.transport.http.httpsURLConnectionmessaging sender which is found in Spring-WS-Support-1.5.9.jar. There's an example of how to do that here. We need to create one of these and set the hostnameverifier on it and pass it to the WebServiceTemplate: Public Void setwebserviceTemplate (WebServiceTemplate Model) {HostnameVerifier Verifier = New Nullhostnameverifier (); HttpsURLConnectionmessaging sender = new httpsURLConnectionmessagingser (); sender.sethostnameverifier (verifier); template.setmessaging sender (sender);
this.Template = template; } The org.springframework.web.client.resttemplate is configured differently. differently.
