"They often limit their time away from their pet or get people to pop in on them regularly even if they're just out for a few hours. Pinot Noir ITCHpet.com A Pinot Noir parent loves the finer things in life, whether that involves cooking homemade meals for the dogs, buying them designer coats or giving them bespoke supplements and nutrition.8. Paws off Parent ITCHpet.com "Whether it's parents, neighbours, friends or even your colleagues - they have a huge support network who are instrumental in the upbringing of Daisy or Duke," Peter explains. Pets might be given the red light when it comes to surfaces or the bed, but these owners enjoy nothing better than giving them the go-ahead to roam freely in the park."Be a Traffic Light and give clear and consistent signals, not same signals and different outcomes. They will also happily take days off when their pet is poorly. If that's you, then your pet parenting style is Hy-Paw-Chondriacs. If they have a bag on their arm, their dog or cat is almost certainly in it. The 'Goose' has an outfit ready to cater for all weather conditions. Entranced ITCHpet.com The second most popular pet parenting style is Entranced. Rather than strict training, they encourage their pet to work things out for themselves."4. Peter says: "Traffic Light pet owners have a healthy balance of rules and freedom. Traffic Light ITCHpet.com This is the most popular style of parenting for dog and cat owners. Dogs and cats who are lucky enough to have a sloth for a paw-rent are the envy of the street's pet-life - as they are spoiled rotten."These guys are the champion of chill, anything goes. Usually, nothing is wrong though, but the journey was worth it just to be sure."6. "Pet parent personas have become more common in line with our growing desire to humanise pets to ensure they feel like one of the family. "These are the folk who cheer their dog or cat up with treats, perhaps more than they should," says Peter. "They check carefully before putting them on the ground, making sure other animals don't frighten them and they ensure everything is safe to walk on."Like this article?Sign up to our newsletter to get more articles like this delivered straight to your inbox.SIGN UP This content is created and maintained by a third party, and imported onto this page to help users provide their email addresses. Consequences for failing to comply include loss of privileges or a verbal dressing down," Peter explains. It's fascinating to discover that there are clearly different categories or 'personas when it comes to pet paw'renting," Professor Peter Neville, a pet behavioural expert, said. Don't look imploringly then treat. The team at animal wellbeing specialists ITCHpet.com have uncovered the most popular pet parenting styles and the meanings behind each of them. You might have a distinct parenting style when it comes to raising your children, but do you have any particular parenting methods when it comes to your pets? Goose ITCHpet.com Peter says: "It goes without question that the 'Goose' protects their young, so these people go all-out in safeguarding their cat or dog. There's a peacefulness in being gentle and easy-going. A study of 1,834 dog and cat owners found that around 29% adopt similar styles of parenting to their children and pets, while only 16% use a completely different style of parenting with their children compared to the one they use with their dog or cat. Take a look at the various ones below: 1. You may be able to find more information about this and similar content at piano.io Want to decode your pet parenting style? Control and regimented ways of behaving are important to them. Hy-Paw-Chondriac ITCHpet.com The study found that one in 10 owners always put their pet's health first. Be consistent in rewarding from day one."2. Constable ITCHpet.com If your pet parenting style is Constable, then you are firm but fair with a strong focus on law and order. Simply put, it means these owners demand respect from their pets. If they have a puppy, they're never under or overdressed. "They have rushed their pooch or pussy to the vet on so many occasions, they're now on first name terms with the staff on the front desk. 10. Peter explains: "These people have the best intentions, but as soon as their pet locks eyes with them and gives their command, they're toast Meal times are a prescribed amount of food at a specific time and is served in the same specific place, and they don't treat their pets like indulged children."5. "Their pet fits into their lifestyle as opposed to dictating it."9. From firm 'Constables' to the protective 'Goose', these personas show just how many of us treat our furry friends like one of the family. Peter says: "Obedience and good manners are imperative in their household and they have a clear set of signals to help their pet understand their wishes."Constables are responsible when it comes to grooming, exercising, diet and wellbeing and in the way they allow their pet to greet and interact with visitors. If you say, 'yes good', it's always 'yes, good'. as they turn to putty in their paws."Entranced owners are at their pet's beck and call, even if it's 4am and their furry friend is sat on their chest glaring intently wanting breakfast." 3. When it comes to webcams and pet monitors, they either own one already or feel they and their pet would benefit from one, so they don't start to miss each other."7. Baggage Handler ITCHpet.com "Finally, the Baggage Handler does exactly as described. They love being close and going on adventures together. Sergeant Major ITCHpet.com The study found that 2% of pet parents have a Sergeant Major parenting style. "Their four-legged friend has an expert grasp of commands. Sloth ITCHpet.com "The most laid-back of the types is the 'Sloth' (14%). A pet's comfort and security is always at the front of their mind," Peter adds.
