Free printables preschool

This page is filled with printable resources with a transportation theme. We've got some great coloring pages, wordwall cards, cut and paste activities, bingo games, and more. One of my children's favorite books is called "I Stink" and it takes them through the daily routine of a garbage truck! It's filled with tons of silliness and I would highly recommend this book during your Transportation unit. A set of photograph word wall cards featuring different forms of transportation. These cards are great for matching games, building vocabulary and more. Featuring 12 different coloring pages, each with handwriting practice options. All of our coloring pages have easy cut squares so you can arrange them into the shape of a quilt on your bulletin board. This is a fantastic free set of Number Rhyme charts with a transportation theme. Children can drive their toy cars, trucks, and planes along each number while following the fun rhyming number formation. Children learn so much quicker when they are having fun! Play our transportation bingo game to aid with visual recognition of some popular forms of transportation. This is a simple matching game featuring different colors and patterns. Print up two sets of each page, laminate for durability. A set of printables children can use to play a matching game. Features a submarine, boat, hot air balloon, airplane, car and truck. What is the Hot Air Balloon carrying? Children complete the picture with their own drawing. Help them brainstorm some silly things that you would never see up in a hot air balloon. This is a simple cut and paste activity. Children cut out the different forms of transportation and glue them into the correct position on the board. Finish the picture by decorating the airplane and adding your own silly pilot. These would also make cute bulletin board displays with silly pictures of your students. These printables are great for a Classroom Train Bulletin Board! Each child fills their boxcar with something silly for the train to carry. Includes a locomotive and a caboose. This is a great way to learn the parts of a train while creating something creative for your classroom. We've got a great craft on our sister site that you could tie in with your transportation theme. This ten commandment train craft takes children through each of the commandments written on boxcars. We've also got some great Bible Preschool lessons with a transportation theme on our sister site PreschoolPost. Our shape printables are just right for little hands. Here you'll find shape bingo, printable shape charts, full-page classroom charts, file folder games, puzzles, matching game and much more. Learning about shapes provides children with early math skills, talk with them about how many sides, points/corners they can find. Look for shapes around the classroom and keep a tally graph of what you find together. Try our NEW Shape of the Week Program! Shape-of-the-Week is a no-prep, print-&-go curriculum that covers 10 exciting shapes! With daily hands-on activities, students learn about circles, triangles, squares and more. Scheduled over a 4-day week, this set coordinates perfectly with our Letter of the Week and our Learn to Read Curriculum. This is a silly set of Shape Charts you can hang in your classroom. Featuring 13 different shapes this set is simple and bright for all ages. This is a set of printable wordwall cards featuring pictures of eight different shapes. Shapes: circle, triangle, square, diamond, star, oval, rectangle, and heart. There are so many benefits to learning for young kids. These practical printables for shapes like triangles, octagons, hexagons, circles and more can help develop fine motor skills, build drawing abilities, and prepare your child for the next step: writing! Students follow the shapes through the maze to bring the Mama Pig to the Baby pig. These free mazes build key logic skills. Students learn about shapes inside of other shapes with these free cut and paste activity pages. Shape Bingo is a great game for children of all ages! Preschoolers love to play games and this is a great way to reinforce shape recognition in a fun way. This is a printable shape chart featuring the shapes: circle, triangle, square, diamond, star, oval, rectangle, and heart. This is a printable minibook featuring eight different shapes: circle, square, triangle, oval, rectangle, diamond, heart and star. This is a free set of pumpkin shape tracing worksheets! Covers 10 different shapes with ideas for fine motor expansion. This free set of shape tracing worksheets has a silly snowman theme! These pages are great review during your winter preschool lessons. Our shape bookmarks are a great way to keep children learning outside of the classroom! Use the bookmarks as rewards or even take home gifts for children. Print on heavy cardstock and laminate for best results. This is a free activity page for marble painting, basic coloring with line shapes and even make great puzzle templates. These full color Shape puzzles are great for center time activities. Try on cardstock and laminate for best results. Provide younger children with a blank template from the Black and White shapes. Try our new Shape of the Week Program today! Our free preschool pumpkin printables help you plan out your Fall learning centers and classroom activities. Use our science sampler and moldy pumpkin experiment worksheet to add some hands on fun in your classroom. Take a trip to the pumpkin patch and bring back some amazing teaching tools you can use throughout your Autumn thematic unit. Extend this unit with our free Fall Leaf preschool printables. These pumpkins are a bit misshapen, each one represents a unique shape. Children color each pumpkin in the pumpkin patch using the shape color guide. This is a real photo set of the life cycle of a pumpkin. This includes a full color classroom chart or notebook page as well as a set of sequencing cards for children to place into the correct order. This is a free set of pumpkin shape tracing worksheets! Covers 10 different shapes with ideas for fine motor expansion. This full color photo matching game is great for young children! Featuring 24 different and colorful varieties, this game is sure to be a hit during your Fall unit. After choosing a pumpkin, guide children through these three pages of introspection. Children draw their pumpkin (or glue pumpkin seeds), discover colors in their pumpkin, describe it by size, texture, weight and more. This is a simplified cut and paste activity worksheet for students to label the parts of a pumpkin. Free printable set of parts of a pumpkin cards, worksheets, coloring pages and more. This is a colorful activity mat for use with candy pumpkins. Children place pumpkins on the board to create addition equations, then move all pumpkins to the board to frame them. A simple worksheet for children ready to begin handwriting. Four days of tracing and one day of trying the letter on their own. Includes a small picture to color, an easy read sentence and a sticker box. This is a fun four in a row addition game. The first player rolls two dice and places a marker on the correct sum. The next player does the same...bumping another player off if there is already someone on that number. The first one to four in a row wins. A full color photo chart featuring different pumpkins, gourds and squash. This would be excellent to print alongside all the different pumpkins children come back to match up. This is a simple worksheet for children to keep track of their scientific data during a moldy pumpkin experiment. Place a small slice of pumpkin in a dish then keep track of what grows. Each day children draw what they see in the petri dish. This thick black line template would be perfect to use as an art project with your little ones. Consider using oil pastels for vibrant Fall colors P is for Pumpkin with this simple handwriting and coloring exercise. Children can draw in faces for each of the three pumpkins. This is counting game. Children use coins or pumpkin seeds to count the correct amount and pay for the pumpkins they've "picked." This is a simple file folder game for children working on visual discrimination. Each pumpkin features two different colors for children to match, making it slightly more difficult than a single color matching game. A handwriting and cutting exercise for young children. Each child designs their own pumpkin then cuts them out. Teacher can arrange all the children's pumpkins into a classroom wall quilt for a fun display. This is a simple cut and paste activity. Children cut out the three shapes and glue them onto their pumpkin. Then draw in their own pumpkin grin. This is a large pumpkin template for you to use with your art class. Marble painting, sponge painting, texture rubbing, finger painting would all be great for a beautiful fall pumpkin! A colorful welcome sign you can print and hang up in your classroom. Also a coloring page for children to decorate one for their own home. You could even show them the color version for ideas on how to color it. Print these pumpkins onto cardstock and laminate for durability. Children order them by size, smallest to largest then largest to smallest. A simple photo matching game featuring a variety of different colorful pumpkins and gourds. These plant life cycle cards show progression from seed to seedling. Children order the different stages of the seed as roots form and the seedling emerges. These pumpkin life cycle cards are perfect for children who are learning about plants and food. Children arrange the six photo cards in the proper order from seed to fruit to show the stages of a pumpkin. 100+ Free Preschool Printables and Worksheets I am so excited to be sharing our free preschool printables with you!!
