I hope this was rather beneficial to you. I'm an Android user and I love applying it for the freedom it offers. In contrast to iOS, you don't have such quite a few restrictions, like unable to set up a .ipa file from an unknown source. Say, by way of example, you got Clash Royale in your iPhone and also you would like to set up a modded version with the app. Well, bad luck, you can't. That is since you are below serious restrictions. That's the downside of iOS devices, overall their functionality is very good for gaming and official work.
