In the end, though the era of British Imperialism in India played a significant role in India's development into the modern world, it also came at a price. Regardless what was lost, a great deal was gained because India was able to not only increase its population, but also make the people smarter and healthier in the process. The way some of India's residents were living before the age of Imperialism was not good, so if it didn't do anything else positive – it helped them live better! most spoken language in the world . Without this major changes , India would have been left in time , different from the modern world for many years until the British or any other developed country would have deflated in showing interest into colonizing the country. One of the best things that British imperialism did for India was helping them to connect with the rest of the world through technology, science , and most important medicine since by that time Indian residents would be called "uncivilized" in different aspects such as the need for them to learn a better way of hygiene habits , how to prop...
