Our Earth, the single known planet that supports life in the vast universe is said to be in crisis due to a phenomena known as global warming, luckily, this is just not the case. There are many sides on this debate, some say that the Earth is indeed warming, however some contend that this is not so, furthermore others are not sure about which side they are entrusting the Earth too. My standpoint on the heavily heated and controversial issue is that Global Warming as defined by its proponents is not occurring. I affirm that the Earth goes through natural warming and cooling trends. Global Warming as defined by its supporters would be a rising in the temperature of the entire Earth due to human activity increasing the amount of greenhouse gases. One such supporter is a science-fiction author by the name of Ben Bova. On the other side of the wall would be Edmund Contoski who is a retired environmental consultant who now works for the Forces International Liberty News Network, this network prides itself on its accountability and individual freedom not being influenced by state imposed laws and regulations. Articles from both writers propose convincing points and interesting facts, however I think that global warming is indeed a myth and humankind does not have as nearly as an adverse effect on the environment as some may state.

Ben Bova wrote an article "Facts Show Global Warming is Real" for naplenews.com.

Bova puts fourth numerous facts that tap into your brain and make you think about your impact on the environment and what is occurring around the world with our planet. Bova uses statistics from the NASA's Goddard Institute for Space Studies, which has had a questionable past. Bova states that the Earth is warming, he cite...

...ent influenced news networks. The director of an environmental group known as Greenpeace stepped down because of the group's willingness to abandon science for political agendas. Patrick Moore left his group which he was in charge of and co-founded because of these reasons they were no longer for the environment.

In my opinion after reading and dissecting both of these articles for the facts they present, my outlook has not changed, global warming is a farce backed by no solid scientific evidence. The Earth is not a statue, temperature change is vital over the course of time, and we as citizens of the world are no more responsible for these changes then the smallest termite or the largest volcanic ranges. The hype of Global Warming is not different then the politicians and news networks trying to influence a mob mentality, to pass false ideas to the public.
