How are heterosexual people affected by same-sex marriage? This is a controversial issue in today's society because heterosexual people have problems with public display of affection by homosexuals. Their public display of affection doesn't harm society or anyone in particular, the only thing that people should worry about in a marriage is love. Eighteen states legalized gay marriage as of January 2014, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Rhode Island, Vermont, Utah, and Washington, and also including the District of Columbia. Colorado, Oregon, Nevada, and Wisconsin have unions and partnerships allowed. While the other 22 states have banned same-sex marriage. Even though there are only a few states that have legalized it, the reason heterosexuals have such a big problem with it is because 40% of the population live in banned same-sex states. (Bridgett) Anyone and everyone has the rights to be married same-sex or different. Federal Rights and Protection should be granted to all married couples, homosexuals or heterosexuals. There are over 1000 different benefits, Rights, and protections provided for married couples. But because the Defense of Marriage Act in 1997 says "marriage" can only bring together a man and a woman, even if it is legal for same-sex marriage in that state will not be considered spouses, so there is no protection such as, death, debts, divorce, health, housing, insurance and taxes, or benefits like social security, tax, health benefits, earned income tax credit, child tax credit, and estate tax ("An Overview ..."). Just because homosexuals feel different about who they are attracted to shouldn't ...
