Faith, “A channel of living trust,” as defined in the Bible, as a notion of celebrating the Almighty and a commitment to the religions’ house of worship (Holy Bible). Around the world, communities praise and proclaim the doctrine of their beliefs and devotion to serve humanity. According to the Pew Research Center Forum’s on Religion and Public Life on Global Religious Landscapes conducted in 2012, there are only 0.8 percent of “other religions” that are practiced around the world that are not known as major religions (The Global Religious Landscape). Discovering and acquiring knowledge of communities that practice different religions will allow individuals to become more aware of the cultures even in small town areas across the United States of America. A small religious community, known as the Assemblies of Yahweh, located in Bethel Township, in Berks County, Pennsylvania practices a unique belief established by a profound Religious leader, Pastor, Teacher, Author, Publisher, Radio and Television Broadcaster; Elder Jacob O. Meyer (Assemblies of Yahweh - Elder Jacob O. Meyer). Elder Jacob O. Meyer, a Leader of the Assemblies of Yahweh, renewed, administered and operated a religious culture that had disappeared centuries ago, but has been revived and studied through modern-day practices of Elder Jacob O. Meyer. Otherwise known as Elder Meyer, he is particularly known in his affiliation for the establishment of promoting his beliefs and sermons through The Sacred Name Broadcast (Russell, Jesse, and Ronald Cohn). Elder Jacob O. Meyer’s motives to broadcast the religion through television, radio and publications, created an awareness across the world from a small town community. In many ways, Jacob O. Meyer, could be considered a head of his time to create a public awareness for his community. Although, Jacob O. Meyer rests in peace, his message and the faith in which
