There are a lack of programs that address substance abuse in this nation. The general public also does not have that much information about people with a substance abuse problem. When someone is abusing and addicted to drugs in not only affects that person, but also family, friends, and the community. The Warren House is a non-profit organization that addresses the life changing problems that come from substance abuse. This programs mission is to help and provide services to people with a substance abuse problem to have a safe and heathy place to recover without any judgement. The main goal of this program is to help the person and the family that are seeking help with substance abuse. The objectives of this program is to provide confidence, knowledge, skills, and education so that people with a substance abuse problem are able to reintegrate into society and lead a healthy and productive life. This program does not turn down anyone with a substance problem; the only requirement for the services provided is that the person has a desire to seek help to improve his or her life through drug rehabilitation. There are a multitude of services available for the person with the substance abuse and the families. The services provided are counseling, vocational training, education, and housing. This organization gives people a chance to find an environment that is conducive to rehabilitation and reintegration back into main society. This program does this by having dormitories available to people who are suffering addictions. This program also helps by providing vocational training. There is also opportunities to seek out education; this may be everything from gaining a GED to entering into college courses. Drug abuse is an dangerousl..... middle of paper .....abilitate from substance abuse. The staff and volunteers strive to make this program more successful, open to all people, and a positive place for clients to be able to accomplish the goals set up for a successful, safe, healthy, and most importantly a drug free life.
