Enjoy access to the Royal Style in the Making Exhibition to view the magnificent wedding dress of Diana from 1981. During the 17th century, the palace was surrounded by lush countryside, and was considered to be the "perfect rural retreat" for members of the royal family. Visitors are also welcome to explore the palace at their own leisure, and can grab a Kensington Palace guide book for £5 during their visit to read up on its history, as well as all the different rooms they can visit. Free cancellation Cancel up to 24 hours in advance to receive a full refund Covid-19 precautions Special health and safety measures apply. You can be dropped-off and picked-up at the palace, but you must make a request beforehand. Explores the birthplace rooms of Queen Victoria where visitors can walk in the footsteps of royalty in Victoria's re-imagined childhood rooms. Skip to content Guided tour Guided tour Discover the regal splendor of Kensington Palace on a guided tour. The palace hosts a "History Bites" talk every day, during which a palace "expert" educates listeners on various different subjects related to the palace. King William III and Queen Mary II first moved into the palace to help treat the king's asthma, as it was believed that the air surrounding Kensington Palace could "help cure without medicines." But a dark cloud has always lingered over Kensington Palace, as it is said to be haunted by several different spirits. But inside the palace there is a treasure trove of royal rooms, items, paintings and even wardrobes that any royal enthusiast will appreciate. Kensington Palace is open every day except December 24th, 25th and 26th. There is a restaurant inside Kensington Palace (The Orangery) which offers breakfast, lunch and afternoon tea, and the Palace Cafe also serves sandwiches, cakes and pastries; (admission inside the palace is not required). The nearest station is Paddington (an 18-minute walk away) You can reach Kensington Palace via routes 70, 94, 148 and 390 (to Bayswater Road), or 9, 10, 49, 52, 70 and 452 (to Kensington High Street). As you stroll the gardens with your guide, learn how these beautiful gardens began life as a King's playground and how for over 100 years and how the gardens were part of Hyde Park and hosted Henry VIII's huge deer chase. From March 1st to October 31st tickets cost: £16.90 online or £18 at the gate (for adults) £13.20 online or £14.30 at the gate (for seniors and students) From November 1st to February 28th tickets cost: £15.40 online or £16.50 at the gate (for adults) £12.60 online or £13.70 at the gate (for seniors and students) Children under the ages of 16 can get in for free, but must be accompanied by an adult during their visit. Walkout to the world-famous Royal Garden setting. There are also annual memberships available for £48 which include unlimited entry into London's six most famous palaces for a year. Before the crowds arrive to view the Kings and Queens State Apartments. Make sure you spend some extra time in Queen Victoria's residence so you can read personal letters between her and Prince Albert, and even see her children's toys and clothes. If you plan on visiting Hyde Park as well as Kensington Palace, it may be a good idea to tour the palace first in case you get tired out walking around the park. If you choose to take a tour of Kensington Palace, there are four different "routes" which are included in your admission ticket. Nevertheless, some pleasant as well as important royal events have taken place inside Kensington Palace throughout its history. Take in the breathtaking scenery while listening to historical and sensational stories of Royal icons past and present. In recent years the Kensington Palace State Rooms underwent a massive renovation, and as a result the majority of the rooms inside the palace look as if they've changed very little since the 17th century. Your guide will take you on an incredible journey unveiling the life of Royalty including Queen Victoria, Kate the Duchess of Cambridge, and Princess Diana. Kensington Palace has been a royal residence for almost 300 years, and today it serves as the official London residence for the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge, along with their two children Prince George and Princess Charlotte. Both Princess Diana and Princess Margaret were said to have been unhappy when they lived at Kensington Palace, and Queen Mary II contracted smallpox within weeks of moving in; (she died shortly after at the age of 32). Some of the many highlights inside the palace include The King's Staircase, The King's Gallery (the largest of the state apartments inside Kensington Palace), and The Privy Chamber (where Queen Caroline used to entertain guests). These routes include "Victoria Revealed" (an exhibition on the life of Queen Victoria), the King's State Apartments (which educate visitors on the Hanoverian court), The Queen's State Apartments (which focuses on the palace's many royal residences like William and Mary, and George I), and "Fashion Rules" (an exhibition on the wardrobes of Queen Elizabeth II, Princess Margaret and Princess Diana). Also be sure to check out the Kensington Palace gardens, which are famous in their own right. Kensington Palace can be a hit or miss for a lot of visitors, so if you're not interested in England's royal history, or even if you have small children with you, then this attraction may not be for you. Not only that, but those who once resided inside the palace lived a depressing, and often isolated life. Furthermore, Queen Anne got pregnant 17 times when living at Kensington Palace, but none of her children survived to adulthood. Learn the story of prominent English royals and view Princess Diana's wedding dress the Royal Style in the Making Exhibition. If you plan on visiting another palace in London (or even plan on visiting Kensington Palace more than once), make sure you buy an annual membership for £48 which grants you unlimited entry into London's six royal palaces for 12 months. The Kensington Palace restaurant (The Orangery) is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. every day, and the Palace Cafe is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. From March 1st to October 31st the palace is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. (with last admission at 5 p.m.).
