- Search engine databases also get information about documents from programs called robots that explore the Web looking for documents to add to their database

- On most host computers, you must have an account on the computer

- Some host computers allow you to logon as "Anonymous" or "Guest" with your email address as the password

- Anonymous logon

How does the World Wide Web works?

1. User must have a program called "browser" running on the computer: Internet Explorer (IE) or Netscape
2. User establishes a connection with an ISP (Internet Service Provider) via dial-up or LAN (local area network).
3. User types in an URL (Uniform Resource Locator) as the target webpage address in browser's address field. For example, <http://www.csd.uwo.ca/~cs031>

Search Engines

- One of the most difficult tasks for a Web browser is to make it easy for the user to find resources
- Search engines allow users to do keyword searches
- These searches are actually database searches
 - Search engines keep databases that match keywords to document URLs

First, we will examine the following two functions: JSON_ENCODE () JSON_DECODE () PHP - JSON_ENCODE () The JSON_ENCODE () function is used to encode a value in JSON format. This example decodes JSON data into an associative PHP array: Example 1 PHP - Accessing Decoded Values Here are two examples of how to access decoded values from an object and an associative array: this example shows how to access values from a PHP object: Esempio di esempio 1 Questo esempio mostra come accedere ai valori da un array associativo PHP: Eseguire Esempio 1 PHP - Looping attraverso i valori 1 inoltre possibile loop attraverso i valori con un loop foreach (): questo esempio mostra come loop attraverso i valori di un oggetto PHP: < ? PHP $ JSONOBJ = '{"PETER": 35, "BEN": 37, "Joe": 43}'; $ obj = json_decode ($ jsonobj); foreach ($ obj come $ key => $ valore) {È echo $ key. PHP has some built-in functions to handle JSON. Here is a simple case to use: ECHO_JSON_CODE (array ("Event_ID" => "603")); echo json_encode (array ("event_id" => "603"), json_numeric_check); and the output: {"event_id": "603"} {"event_id": 603} There are probably some situations where you don't want all your like-for-like data to be returned as a number, but for now it seems to be a good fit for API.Join.in.
